

Call for Papers: BeNA Labor Economics Workshop
November 3, 2023, Berlin

Submission deadline: October 2, 2023

The one-day workshop provides young labor economists the chance to present and discuss their research. It provides a forum to meet and exchange with fellow doctoral students, post-docs and professors from the field of labor economics. The workshop is targeted at PhD students and aims to facilitate exchange between junior and senior academics. This year, we are thrilled to announce that Ingrid Hägele (Ludwig-Maximilians University of Munich) and Nikolaj A. Harmon (University of Copenhagen) will be our excellent keynote speakers at the workshop.

We are looking forward to submissions from PhD students from Berlin and Brandenburg working on topics in labor economics from a theoretical, empirical or experimental perspective. Equally, we encourage the submission of work in early stages. All projects presented at the BeNA workshop will be considered for the BeNA Innovative Research Award in the amount of €200.

The workshop will take place in the heart of Berlin at Humboldt University's main building on November 3, 2023.

If you want to present your work, please submit an abstract or a draft of your paper by October 2, 2023, to our organizing team (workshop@labor-research.net). The decision on your submission will be communicated by October 16, 2023.

BeNA Workshop Organizers:

Michelle Hansch (Humboldt University Berlin / Berlin School of Economics)

Felix Fuchs (RF Berlin / Berlin School of Economics)
