

Minimum Wages in the 21st Century

We are delighted to continue the ROCKWOOL Foundation Berlin's Handbook Masterclass Series, inspired by the latest volume of the Handbook of Labour Economics.

Our second masterclass will take place on 27–28 May, featuring Arindrajit Dube and Attila Lindner, who will present their chapter, "Minimum Wages in the 21st Century." Over two days of lectures and interactive sessions, they will examine how minimum wage policies influence labor markets, drawing on recent empirical work and broader economic implications.

Attila Lindner

Professor of Economics at University College London

Arindrajit Dube

Provost Professor of Economics at University of Massachusetts Amherst

Please use the form below to apply for the masterclass. Participation is free, but travel and accommodation costs are not covered.

Call Opens: 15 April

Application Deadline: 27 April

Decision Notification: around 5 May

Application via Typeform: <https://form.typeform.com/to/DXsDpiQR>

For more information about the event please visit our website: www.rfberlin.com/event/rfberlin-handbook-masterclass-dube-lindner